This summary includes conversations/meetings with adults and/or students at the following sites: Georgia Fatherhood, Early Head Start (2 groups), Grand Slam, Boys and Girls Club, Service Providers, Senior Providers, Rocksprings Community Center, Hancock Community Development Association, St. Joseph's Church (Spanish speakers), Oasis, Columbus Ave. Recreation Center, Religious Community, Housing Authority's ICC, East Friendship Baptist Church, as well as ongoing input from private citizens. (More meetings are scheduled.)

A topic that has frequently come up both directly and indirectly is the importance of developing a group focused on POLICY ISSUES AND ADVOCACY. Another area that might be addressed is Regional Conversations with our neighboring counties on a variety of issues. These may be potential new committees which would help link some issues contained in various committees and provide additional information.

This Summary is divided into the six major committees as well as the Education Subcommittees.:

EDUCATION

- The high dropout rate is a problem.
- The better the education someone has, the less likely they will live in poverty.
- Have UGA provide free tuition to children whose parents work at the university provided that the children qualify to attend.
- Students who are reading below grade level in third and fourth grade are more likely to drop out of school.
- Students who are retained once are 60% more likely to drop out of school, while those who are retained twice are 90% more likely to drop out of school.
- If someone is reading below a seventh grade level in high school there are very limited academic options in Athens.
- There are many reasons students choose to dropout of school including boredom, families needing money, sick of being in school, pregnancy, believe school is not for them, feel teachers don't support them, bullying, too far behind, low self-esteem, low expectations, too many rules, not enough support at home, peer pressure, drugs.
- Undocumented status for immigrants prevent students from going to college.

- There are many ideas to help encourage and support students staying in school. These ideas include providing many more hands-on activities particularly vocational opportunities and perhaps schools focused on vo-tech opportunities. The emphasis was that these were not elective classes, but rather a vocational focus so that students could learn a marketable trade.
- It was emphasized that early academic reading support for students in trouble is critical. This support needs to be with persons trained to teach reading skills in schools.
- There is a need for more mentors and teachers supporting and encouraging students.
- Alternative schools should be focused on providing for the needs of students and not simply as punishment.
- The attitudes of teachers, both positive and negative, has a huge impact on students' likes or dislikes about school.
- Put family planning/sex ed. back in schools starting at age 11.
- Put drivers ed into schools.
- Many special needs students are being lost in the NCLB emphasis on test scores.

- Look at school uniforms as a possibility for ACC.
- Students need field trips and other access to broader life experiences.
- Literacy coaches and public library staff have been helpful in working with teachers and parents.
- With the high school dropout rate between 40 and 50% in Athens-Clarke County it is apparent that there is a need for different choices in educational opportunities. One size does not fit all.
- Disabilities often go undiagnosed.
- Don't punish schools with high numbers of poverty students.
- Discipline support is needed to address the chronic behavior problem.
- Pay teachers more and empower them more as professionals.
- Get rid of trailers at the school.
- Stigma is often associated with being poor and this effects student behavior and expectations.
- Provide alternative methods for measuring school success. AYP is measured by one test. NCLB needs to be looked at.
- The rule on absenteeism seems unreasonable.

A. NEW/SUCCESSFUL MODELS

- A. Community Center/Holistic Approach—Develop school models that address the needs of students Pre-natal through high school.

- Establish school based community resource centers to address the various child care, health care, and mental health needs of students and their families.
 - Develop different educational models for high poverty schools (i.e. apprenticeship programs, extended day, extended year, schools within schools, community centers within schools, full care centers serving families and their children beginning at birth or before.)
 - Provide High quality staff and programs in low income communities.
- B. Vocational and Technical Schools
- Some of the skills would include cosmetology, cooking, auto mechanics, cartooning, plumbing, construction, industrial arts, carpentry. These courses would not be seen as electives, but rather teaching students marketable skills.
 - Provide high quality vocational programs at the middle and high school levels.
 - There is a need for more post-secondary school opportunities for parents.
 - Do a better job of promoting what comes after high school. Vocational schools, community colleges, and trade schools need to be promoted.

D. YOUTH

- Need safe places for kids and teens to go, particularly at night and week-ends.

- It was mentioned that there is a need for more open conversations to discuss drugs, sexual issues, peer pressure, careers, etc.

E. EARLY LEARNING

- 27.6% of Athens-Clarke County children under age 5 live in poverty; 29.5% of babies born in ACC in 2004 (last year of our data) were born to mothers who did not receive prenatal care (in 97 & 98, it was less than 8%); 29.1% of 2004 ACC babies were born to mothers with less than 12 years of education; the 2004 teen pregnancy rate for ACC was 46.8/1000 (statewide it was 39.4).

- Need for high quality child care, not baby-sitting. The higher the quality of care that a child has from birth to 5 years old, the more likely they are to be successful in school.
- Replicate current successful early learning models at ACC.

- Facility usage may be available for early learning programs.
- DFCS child care assistance has been frozen except for parents under 18 & in school full time, TANF recipients (fewer than 100 in Athens), and kids in the foster care system. So, if you need the assistance to keep your job, you can't get it, so you quit your job because you can't afford child care, you go on TANF, and then you can get assistance.
- The state is developing a rating system related to quality of providers.
- An immense amount of learning occurs during the preschool years due to rapid brain development. For instance, the number of connections (synapses) in the child's brain doubles between ages 2 and 3 years. (Shore, 1997

- Although parental care is the major determinant of a child's success in school and life, high quality early care and learning programs can mitigate the effects of very low inadequate parental care. (NICHD study)
- Children living in near poverty tend to receive the poorest quality out-of-home child care and learning opportunities. (NICHD study)
- Most children living in poverty are eligible for some form of federally subsidized early care and learning program (e.g., Early Head Start, Head Start, child care (CAPS) subsidies), but due to lack of funding, some do not receive it.
